The total vote for the two leading candidates was:

The Republican plurality four years ago was 31,312.

William Lindsay of Glendive was nominated for Governor by acclamation. The platform indorses Roosevelt and Fairbanks; declares for the initiative and referendum and direct nominations; favors an eight-hour labor law and a fellow-servant bill, and declares that the "Republicans of Montana will brook no interference from any corporation whatsoever in political affairs."

DAN LAMONT AFRAID.

MIGHT DRAG PARKER DOWN.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

MILLBROOK (N. Y.) Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Daniel S. Lamont, in an interview said today:

"I am not unapprehensive of the honor attending a nomination by the Democratic party as its candidate for Governor of the State of New York, but to the suggestion that I should be a candidate I have invariably replied that I was not a seeker for any office."

"My desire, in a political way, is far the election of Judge Parker, but this State cannot be carried, and Judge Parker cannot be elected, if personal politics are to control. The State convention can name a ticket to please individuals which will drag Parker down to defeat."

DEMOCRACY AT SALT LAKE.

RESENTS MORMON INFLUENCE.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

SALT LAKE, Sept. 8.—The Democratic State Convention today nominated James H. Moyle of Salt Lake for Governor, Judge O. W. Powers of Salt Lake City for Congressman, and adopted a platform, which, besides indorsing the national platform and approving the nomination of Parker and Davis, reflects the renewal of charges of church interference in Utah politics and the reorganization of the anti-church party by denying the right of any power to dictate political nominations. The convention was very harmonious. Judge Powers' nomination for Congress was made by acclamation and Moyle had a large majority of the votes for Governor over William C. Roylance and R. S. Wells.

The platform, which was adopted amid much cheering, contained the following plank:

"The Democratic party neither seeks nor fears the interference of an ecclesiastical power with the expression of popular will at the polls, and denies the right of any power to dictate any set of men to dictate the political nominations or to control political conventions. We hold that American citizens are politically free and equal, and the people alone should wield this power."

WORKING CLASSES WITH THE PRESIDENT.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CUMBERLAND (Md.) Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles W. Stangen of Baltimore, supreme chief of the Car Inspectors, Car Builders and Railway Mechanics of America and chairman of the Conference Committee of Railway Employes of Maryland, is here conferring with the members of his order. Stangen's duties carry him from one end of the country to the other, and in the course of a few months he talks with almost a countless number of persons. Speaking of his observations in a political way, he said:

"From the standpoint of the laboring class, there is no doubt of the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks with majorities that characterized the two last campaigns. The working class are almost unanimously for the Republican nominees, and I have not the slightest doubt that they will be elected."

"Both Roosevelt and Fairbanks are well and favorably known, while, on the other hand, the Democratic nominees, Parker and Davis, are comparatively strangers to the great masses of people, who are, in this campaign, determined to let well enough alone and not venture into the future with an uncertainty at their head."

"I have traveled in West Virginia lately, and it is my honest belief that the Republican majority in the Panhandle State will be larger than ever. Davis will never be able to carry his own State. In Keyser, yesterday, I talked with both Democrats and Republicans, and without exception, all were in favor of the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks."

FAIRBANKS OPENS "NUTMEG" CAMPAIGN.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

HARTFORD (Conn.) Sept. 8.—The campaign in Connecticut on the part of the Republicans was opened at the Auditorium tonight by a rally at which Charles S. Fairbanks, late Republican Vice-Presidential candidate, was the chief speaker. He was enthusiastically received by an audience that exhausted the seating capacity of the hall. Senator Fairbanks said:

"Republicans politics have never been a menace to the business interests of the country. Their triumph has never been awaited with triumph and apprehension."

"We have met and solved many great questions in the last seven years. Some of them little dreamed of in the great campaign of eight years ago. The administration of our new possessions has been consistent with the spirit of our institutions and according to the best traditions of the republic. The Republican party has kept faith with the country. It has made the pledge of eight years ago the written law. It has established the gold standard, and it is proud of what it will stand for its maintenance against all comers."

"We will not entrust the mighty business affairs of the republic to the control of a party which lacks the moral courage to avow its confidence in the virtue of the gold standard. We will entrust that power to no party which is seriously divided upon this great and vital question."

"Our Democratic friends express the opinion that we are doing but little for the farmers. They were never more in error. The Agricultural Department was never accomplishing more than it is today under Secretary Wilson. During the last year, the value of farms has increased almost beyond the power of computation."

"The Republican party has been loyal to the interests of the farmers of the United States. The farmers of Vermont, on Tuesday last, emphasized their confidence in the virtue and efficacy of Republican policies."

"The government business is well conducted. So long as President Roosevelt is entrusted with power, no one need doubt that he will whip out of place those who prove themselves unworthy. His ambition is to conduct public business on a high plane and in a close way, and to promote the public welfare."

THE VERY LATEST. WAR NEWS AFTER MIDNIGHT.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—[By Atlantic Cable.] What is termed "Japan's impenetrable silence" reduces English comment on the events at the seat of war to a minimum. As dispatches to the Associated Press from St. Petersburg have continuously pointed out, every initiative now lies with the Japanese. In view of the continued silence from the quarter which alone can throw light on the tense situation, the English critics satisfy themselves by forecasting an impending great battle at Mukden, or its vicinity. They have practically given up, however, the illusion current prior to and during the first stages of the Russo-Japanese contest, that any degree of finality is likely to be attached to this engagement.

The fanatical disregard for death displayed on both sides and the ability to keep an army in being either from an offensive or defensive point of view, under conditions considered here to be prohibitive, has done more to convince the English press of the desperate character of the struggle than any other factor. It is the nature of the dispatches that have emanated from Tokio or St. Petersburg declaring that neither the Japanese nor the Russian will give in.

In place of endeavoring to follow the minute progress of the campaign, this morning's newspapers somewhat hopelessly devote editorials preparing the English public to be witnesses of the war which will longer drag out and more terrible in every respect than any within recent centuries.

The Daily Telegraph believes that Gen. Kuroki, "owing to the peril of his rear guard or the prostration of his troops has paused in his retreat, and turned for battle," while the Standard thinks that a battle is now in progress. But, as the Daily Telegraph says, the whole problem lies at present "between dark and daylight."

The Standard's Tientsin correspondent says that reports from Kwangning, an important Manchurian city, indicate that the Japanese are advancing rapidly. Many districts are terrorized, and robbery and violence prevail everywhere; the authorities not making any attempts to repress it. It is understood that the Emperor's inspection of the Baltic fleet at Kronstadt today is the last he will make, and that the fleet, when it leaves Libau, will proceed to the Far East.

NO IMMEDIATE NEWS.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

ASSOCIATED PRESS HEADQUARTERS, New York, Sept. 8.—What is happening at the seat of war is known only to those on the ground. There is no immediate news, neither through the medium of press dispatches nor from official sources. Kuroki's reports in a telegram sent Wednesday evening that he did not lose a single gun in his retreat, and that Kuroki is on his east bank and Oku is on his left. St. Petersburg officials surmise that a big battle may be fought if the Japanese continue to press on to Mukden.

The story of bad roads and hampered transport is repeated, and from Mukden. In the last dispatch received, comes the significant intimation that "there is an interesting movement toward Tieling," the nature of which is not disclosed.

PARKER'S EDITORS.

Upward of Two Hundred of the Bunch That Taggart Fed at New York Journey to "Esophagus" for More "Stuffing."

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

ESOPUS (N.Y.) Sept. 8.—Editors of 200 of the Democratic newspapers, representing various parts of the country, came to Rosemont today to visit ex-Judge Parker. They were received by the candidate, and the visit was made the occasion of the first political speech he has made in many years, barring only that in which, August 10, he accepted the Democratic nomination.

Under the fairest of summer skies, Rosemont was at its best for the occasion. Several of Parker's intimate friends came from Kingston to participate in the reception to the editors. Representative Sulzer, who spent the night at Rosemont, remained during the day.

The greeting of the editors to the candidate was delivered by Charles W. Knapp, editor of the St. Louis Republic, who said:

Judge Parker: "We bring you greetings from the Democratic and independent press of the United States. Sharing your ardent devotion to those eternal principles of truth and justice which bear the name 'Democracy,' we have come to touch hands with our chosen leader, and in his presence register our pledges of loyal fealty to the great work of governmental reform in which we expect to follow him to a glorious victory next November.

By your fearlessness, resolution and independence, sir, we have already been stimulated to new vigor and aggressiveness. We come to tell you by word and by action of the enthusiasm that inspires our work and the confidence with which we await its successful fruition in the very near future.

We are of one mind in echoing your own forcible denunciations of the trinity of oppression, from which the American people suffer so much. Not the transitory requirements of party duty, but the enduring responsibilities of a deep-seated conviction unite both you and us in unflinching opposition to 'imperialism,' high tariffs and corrupt officialism. Recognizing these evils as alike in their essence, since they are simply varying forms of the same reckless sacrifice of the general public welfare, in order that the private interest of the favored few may be more effectively served, we congratulate the country that the promises of Democracy and the character of its nominee for the Presidency alike assure government by law and not according to individual caprices—assure regulation of our affairs through the wisdom of the Constitution, and not by strenuous force.

"IMPERIALISM," BUT—

And when we decry 'imperialism,' we have no fear, Judge Parker, that you will either be blind to the grave duties which the obligations of an enlightened civilization impose upon us in the new regulations which have come to our country during the past half dozen years, or that you will shrink from the task which Christian humanity demands that we should bravely execute. We know that you will be awake to the call of duty and ready to do the bidding of our destiny. We know that you will lead the American people courageously forward to whatever sacrifices the ordinances of fate have set for them. But we know also, and we rejoice in the knowledge, that you will assure the execution of these obligations within, and not outside the Constitution.

We have been profoundly impressed with your earnest appeal that the legislative, judicial and executive departments of the government preserve the clearly-defined limits of their relative powers, which the wise framers of our organic law imbedded in the Constitution of the United States. We draw from the record of your judicial career many evidences that none of these distinct powers has been overlooked in your performance of administrative duties. We fear no befogging phrase of new invention when you are our executive, and we do not doubt that you will recognize that our so-called insular possessions are really subject colonies.

With a President imbued with wholesome respect for the Constitution, we shall look for a prompt guarantee that the prerogatives of liberty and property run equally well for all who live under its flag. We shall count also on a speedy abandonment of the political and legal anachronism that a Democratic republic, founded on a Constitution, heralded as the essence of wisdom applied to human life, can hold a foreign people as subject vassals outside that Constitution and unblended by its guarantees.

Judge Parker, we bring you by our presence here today, practical and material evidence that the promise it was the speaker's fortune to make before the Democratic National Committee in Washington, last January, in supporting the invitation to hold the nominating convention in St. Louis, came close to real prophecy. It was promised then that the delegates would leave St. Louis carrying the banners of a united, progressive and militant Democracy. Four visitors of today redeem the promise. We come to give you visible token of that harmony: to testify that we are armed for aggressive battle, and to assure you that we are solidly united in the conviction that our platform and our candidate carry the same message to the people, both speaking for the same imperishable verities of right and wisdom.

WOULDN'T HAVE HIM AGAIN.

We thank you particularly, Judge Parker, for the manly declaration that you will not be a candidate for a second term if you are elected President. We welcome in this avowal the introduction of a new and vital issue in American politics, and unhesitatingly give it our endorsement and support. It supplements and completes that vigorous manifestation of your individuality which the telegram to the St. Louis convention so forcibly conveyed.

We rejoice that the principles and policies of Democracy have found so worthy an exponent in 1904, because we realize that every great popular movement must present to the people both the idea and the man of the hour. We give both, and we are proud of the man who so impressively demonstrated that he would, rather be right than be President.

We mean that he shall be President because he is "right." "Sow a character," said a distinguished writer, "and you reap a destiny." We shall prove the truth of the aphorism. The Democratic party planted Alton B. Parker at St. Louis, and it will reap the Presidency.

PARKER'S TURN.

In reply Parker said:

It is indeed a great pleasure to welcome to Rosemont this body of representatives of the great American press, one of the mightiest forces in the upbuilding and strengthening of a sturdy American citizenship. You have been in conference to the end that your work in this campaign may be as effective as possible. Organized effort and concerted action must always increase the effectiveness of the common endeavor of many hands.

The leaders who have made a thoroughfare through history down which all the centuries of the future will march with giant strides, have all been men who, though unmoved by hasty expression of the hurried judgment of the people, were yet guided in all their public acts by the knowledge of what the direct and mature judgment of the people would be. So the great papers are those which anticipate the careful judgment of the majority. The great tribune of the American people may be implicitly relied on to decide all questions with unerring and exact justice when all the evidence is in and deliberation had, and those who would hold place as leaders of the people must be so thoroughly American, so discreet, so far-sighted and so sure of the pulse of the people, as to discern the course public opinion will take.

Though the instant judgment of the people may be often at fault, the ripe and final decision is always for the right. And the part of leadership is to know the right and to honestly, patriotically, fearlessly and zealously advocate it. Just as long as the press can discern and lead the unhurried and well-considered judgment of the people, so long will its power grow mightily, and so long will it hold its place in the front rank of the unfaltering and vigorous march of national progress. To the upbuilding of the power of the press and to the enlightenment of the people you have devoted yourselves. There are questions of great import to be passed upon by the people in November, questions that it will be your duty, and therefore, I am sure, your pleasure as well, to present honestly and so clearly that the people will understand them.

I shall not take up your time, however, with any reference to the great issues upon which our party, through its platform, and candidates, confidently appeals to the people for endorsement, but crave your indulgence while I briefly refer to a single feature of the platform of our Republican party.

That platform opens with a declaration of that party's many years of control of government, coupled with the assertion that it "has displayed a high capacity for rule and government, which has been made even more conspicuous by the incapacity and infirmity of purpose shown by its opponents." This challenge to a comparison of Democratic and Republican administrations since the Republican party came into existence should be welcomed.

CLEVELAND VS. M'KINLEY.

Fortunately, we have eight years of Democratic administration of the Executive Department of the government which we will gladly compare with any similar period since 1860. The comparison will show that under Democratic control, the administrative purity of the fathers was observed in the conduct of the government; that no one of its departments was permeated, as of late, with corruption rivaling the days of the Star Route frauds; that a successful effort was made to check the growth of expenditures; that it resulted in each instance in cutting down the expenses within control of the Executive Department of the government below the preceding administrations. The comparison will show also, that each succeeding Republican administration after 1868 increased expenses, and in some instances so greatly as to create reckless extravagance and waste of the people's money.

During Mr. Cleveland's first term, the average annual expenditure was about two hundred and sixty-nine millions. For the past three years it has been about five hundred and nineteen millions. The governmental expenditure last year amounted up to five hundred and eighty-two millions, which is not equaled by any year since the Civil War, with the exception of the year of the Spanish War. There is an inevitable result to such extravagance. Instead of a surplus, the annual receipts of about eighty millions, which the present Executive found on assuming control, there is now a deficit to be found there of forty-two millions.

The limits of this address will not permit a further reference to the cost of administration, but it should receive careful examination at your hands. And you will be convinced that "reform is necessary," say, far more necessary than in 1876. In the case of public expenses, and then convinced you will do less than your duty if you fail to make the people understand it. The challenge of the Republican platform permits you to compare the trails of every-day life, so to speak, of the Democratic administrations with both preceding and successive administrations, and you will not shrink from it.

GOING FOR THE CABINET.

The sturdy honesty, marked ability and thorough devotion to principle of those in high place during those Democratic administrations may without hesitation be placed alongside of the qualifications of similar officials in any and all other administrations. Who, I pray you, would hesitate to compare the members of the Cabinet of those years with the present one, or with any one? Is the name of Bayard, Manning, Fairchild, Endicott, Whitney, Vilas, Dickinson and Garland members of the 1884 Cabinet, and Olney, Carlisle, Lamont, Smith, Francis, Herbert, Bissell, Wilson and Harmon of that of 1892, dwarfed when contrasted with the Cabinet officers of today? When the comparison is once completed you will be eager to ask the people which is the better. They will declare the victor in the contest between administrations to be the one which, in addition to other excellences, saved many millions a year to the nation.

Extravagance is running riot in Federal, State and municipal governments, in spite of the well-directed efforts of some excellent officers. The extravagances of the municipal governments are steadily piling up, bond issues are increasingly frequent, and the people have not the satisfaction in many instances of a full equivalent in improvement for the money expended. And the Federal government is leading in the race of great expenditures. Ere long the people will demand a reform in administrative expenses. And they will do it now, if they are made to appreciate the whole truth.

"WHEELS," BUT NO "MACHINE."

The Democratic party is not a machine; it is a body of citizens, who believe that on the whole its fundamental principles are best adapted to the conduct of the government. Among so many patriotic and intelligent men, it is inevitable that divergence of opinion as to minor questions and differences of view as to correctness of the disposition of dead issues should be found. The party is concededly united today as to every vital article of faith which can reasonably enter into the pending canvass.

ANY OLD THING TO WIN.

Our adversaries are entrenched in full possession of every department of the government, and it is a mistake policy that will drive away voters who would help to end them. The cause cannot be advanced by others within the party with whom we have had disagreements, but who are now working with us for a common result. All men who have attained any degree of prominence have the friends and the exercise of ordinary prudence forbids the alienation of allies who are willing and anxious to assist.

The coming election is not to be determined the September vote in the hopelessly Republican States, where local issues and candidates even are previously handicapped, but the result in Vermont Tuesday admonished us—and there can be no harm in giving voice to the admonition—that harmonious cooperation of all and the elimination of personal, factional and unimportant differences, involving no surrender of principle, are essential to success.

AFTER THE "STUFFING."

Secretary Urey Woodson informed the editors that a conference would take place on the steamer returning from Esopus, when every editor would be given an opportunity to say what he thinks of Judge Parker.

THERE WERE NOT 500.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Local papers, regardless of politics, agree on 200 as being the number of editors at last night's feast. The Democratic papers are poking fun at Taggart's aggregation of editors, while the Tribune, which is a conservative paper, says: "Like the man of biblical lore, they made a feast and invited guests, but the guests came not; whereas they sent out and gathered in who would come, many of whom were neither editors nor Democrats."

S. T. PETERSBURG, Sept. 8.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A Russian correspondent of the Associated Press in a graphic description of the fighting at Liao Yang says:

"Only the Russian soldiers' traditional splendid qualities enabled them to support the terrible conditions, of which the lack of sleep was the most unbearable."

"The Japanese availed themselves to the utmost of rain and darkness and did not cease fighting, their night attacks testing Russian endurance severely."

"The Japanese suffered terribly, but made light of their losses. They continually drafted fresh reserves into the ranks to replace the worn-out men."

"Indeed, the numerical superiority of the Japanese is astounding, and incomprehensible, for, after losing enough men at Port Arthur and elsewhere to form a perfect army, their effective strength appears only to increase and they still are concentrating fresh bodies of troops on the Liao River."

"The battlefield was a perfect inferno. Gen. Stakeberg was wounded, but, despite the rain, he remained immovable at his post throughout the day, receiving the rain of shot and shell around him. Several officers of his staff were killed or wounded. In the evening Gen. Stakeberg notified Gen. Kourapatkin that he could hold the position or take the offensive if necessary."

"Among the incidents of the day was the slaughter of two Japanese battalions which were pursued through the Chinese corn and grain to Saltsa and surrounded by the Russians. They bravely refused to accept quarter, preferring death."

"In another part of the field the Japanese shelled and captured by assault one of the Russian trenches, only to find too late that it had been abandoned by the Russians and occupied by their comrades. They fell upon the prostrate bodies and flooded them with tears."

"In one case a party of Japanese officers found a body of their men retreating in disorder and drove them back to the battlefield at the point of the sword."

DIED AT THEIR POSTS.

"The Russian Frontier Guards died at their posts, refusing to surrender. It was the anniversary of the creation of their regiment, which they had celebrated the previous night. They lost a large portion of their officers."

"At many points the combatants stood each other."

"Of late the Russians have learned to make their batteries more effective, and thus have gained a sensible advantage over the Japanese."

The Russians worship their guns, and to quote Gen. Kourapatkin's admiration, 'Soldiers, die for your guns as you die for your flag.'

"The pits which the Russians had dug in the Chinese corn and the grass were filled with Japanese corpses, which were trodden over by their comrades."

"The ground was so thickly strewn with bodies in the fight that the Japanese raised a white flag and sought permission to bury their dead, but this was refused. The air became polluted with the stench."

"The Russian evacuation of the forts and entrenchments was carried out without loss. The troops crossed the river on pontoon and railway bridges, in perfect order, and safely, burning the bridges after them."

"Liao Yang is enveloped in flames and clouds of smoke from the conflagration are visible as far as Yentai.

"The countryside is swarming with Chinese fugitives."

NARRATIVE OF THE BATTLE.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The Times correspondent with the Japanese left army sends a long narrative of the battle of Liao Yang. Describing the operations of September 1, he says:

"The general impression was that we had only to advance and occupy the town, but Generals Nodzu and Oku's armies required a day's rest. In fifty hours, Oku had made four general assaults which had failed, and he had subsisted through the inclement weather on rations carried on the person, while reserve ammunition required replenishing."

"The Russians had fallen back in good order, taking with them everything except some 200 of their latest dead, while the only prisoners to fall into the hands of the Japanese were seven men, who were entombed in an observation mine."

"A brush-covered hill, a Japanese morning party had piled sand bags over the office of the casemate. It was an extraordinary incident, for the entombed Russians had shot two officers who wished to parley with them and eventually surrendered 36 hours later in a horrible state."

"I will not dwell upon the sickening and harrowing sights of the battlefield, except to mention one incident, the Japanese stormers had penetrated the highest trench and had overpowered the Cosacks holding it, but Russians from a splinter-proof shelter behind had fallen with their bayonets on the gallant Japanese in the moment of their success and the bodies of both Japanese and Cosacks were piled thick upon each other in a hideous heap."

JAPANESE CASUALTIES.

"The casualties of the Japanese in five divisions at the lowest compilation were not less than ten thousand and they were probably many more, for, owing to the crops of millet several of the wounded have not been found and they must have died miserably, while many bodies will never be found until the crops are cut."

"It is impossible to estimate the Russian losses, which were probably half of the Japanese losses. It must be remembered that my estimate of the latter does not include the Tenth Division of Kuroki's army."

"Just before sundown there was a full Russian response to the Japanese fire."

"Trains have been seen leaving all during the day. Again the rear guard, having completed its duty, retired."

The correspondent refers to one of Oku's artillery attacks as one of the most severe concentrated artillery fires the world has ever seen. Every gun belonging to two of the Japanese corps was trained in rapid fire on the left of Kourapatkin's position.

The correspondent says:

"It was a magnificent, and withal an awe-inspiring spectacle. The Russian gun-downs were set on fire, as policy that will drive away voters who would help to end them. The cause cannot be advanced by others within the party with whom we have had disagreements, but who are now working with us for a common result. PROBABLY CHINESE JUNKS.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

WEIHAIWEI, Sept. 8, 5:30 p.m.—The vessels which went out from here to investigate the firing of last night report that the flashes of the guns were plainly visible; they were unable, however, to ascertain whether the Japanese were firing upon Russian ships which had escaped from Port Arthur or upon Chinese junk boats. The activity of the Japanese in catching junks makes the latter supposition the more probable. Eighteen junks have been captured by the Japanese during the last few days.

OATS GETTING SCARCE.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

CHEFOO, Sept. 8.—Chinese report that oats and straw for the Japanese horses are getting scarce.

The Japanese ammunition depot at Litung has been destroyed by Russian shells.

From August 27 to August 29 the Russians buried, under a severe fire, 700 decomposing Japanese bodies on the northeast front, in order to prevent pestilence.

A letter reaching Chefoo from Port Arthur says that the Russians are distilling sea water, as the Japanese have cut off the reservoirs in the Liao Shan Hills.

The last copy of the Novakrai, which has reached here, shows evidence of an increasing severity of the Russian censorship. Although it mentions that the Japanese have occupied new positions, it does not tell how they secured them.

COTTON COMPANY RECEIVERS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Charles E. Kimble of Summit, N. J., and C. L. Lovinger of Taunton, Mass., today were appointed receivers for the American Cotton Company for the New York district. The New Jersey courts yesterday appointed the same men. The difficulties of the American Cotton Company, with a capitalization of $1,000,000, are attributed to a lack of sufficient capital. The company owns or controls nearly 500 cotton and ginning plants. Nearly $2,000,000 of liabilities will accrue next month, and it is said the company is without funds to meet them.

STOCK-YARDS STRIKE ENDS.

Butchers Acknowledge Defeat and Disruption.

It's a Most Disastrous Blow to Unionism.

Strikers Try to Drive Non-union Men from Mines.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Acknowledging defeat and disruption, the National Executive Board of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen brought the great packing-house strike to an end tonight, by ordering a complete surrender of the butcher workmen.

The order calling off the strike and signaling the most disastrous blow to unionism in many years went into effect at midnight. Tomorrow morning the Allied Trades Conference Board, which had the strike snatched out of its hands after overthrowing the leadership of Michael Donnelly, will meet to order the cooperation of the sympathetic trades in submitting to the inevitable terms that end the misdirected struggle.

Donnelly, the man who led the fight against the packers until he was convinced of defeat, determined this morning to take radical action. He sent telegrams to all members of the executive board, asking them to concede defeat, as he had done. Answers were received from all the packing-house owners, where the executive board members reside, giving the order to all off the strike. The surrender affects all cities where the strike has been in progress for nearly nine weeks, originally involving 50,000 men. Probably fewer than 20,000 will return to work, owing to the non-union men who will keep their places.

DONNELLY'S FINISH.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—The strike of the butcher workmen, which has demoralized the meat-packing industry throughout the country for the last two months, was officially declared off tonight by President Michael J. Donnelly of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union of America. This morning Donnelly telegraphed the members of the National Executive Committee, asking their consent to an announcement of the end of the struggle, and tonight, having received favorable answer from all, he declared the strike of the members of his organization would end at midnight.

The strike of the members of the affiliated unions at the stock yards who quit work in sympathy with the butchers will be officially called off tomorrow morning at a meeting of the conference board of the allied trades. This was decided upon at a meeting of the central body of the allied trades held tonight.

The general body was at first in favor of continuing the strike, but Donnelly, who was present, announced that the men were defeated and that in order to save his union from being entirely disrupted, he would order his men to return to work in the morning. It is expected that the majority of the unskilled will be unable to secure their places again. It was the question of a wage scale for the unskilled that brought about the strike, the packers refusing to sign an agreement with any class other than skilled workmen.

During the strike, approximately 250 persons have been involved in the struggle, which has cost the packers an estimated loss of $2,000,000 in lost business, and the butchers an estimated loss of $1,000,000 in lost business. The greatest number of men idle in Chicago this week was 50,000, and the loss in the country outside of this city is estimated to be about the same number. The original cause of the strike was the demand by the butchers' union that the packers pay to the unskilled workmen 15¢ an hour. The packers refused to sign an agreement, but tried to arbitrate the question. It was accepted, the strikers agreeing to return to work, pending the decision of arbitrators.

The men, however, were dissatisfied with the manner in which they were being put to work, and declared that they would not return unless all the men were given their places in one day's time. The packers declared that the strike was 25,000 men, and the men went on strike for a second time. The men now return to work under the conditions that existed before the strike.

BAD LOT OF STRIKERS.

SHERIFF DISARMS SIXTY.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
TRINIDAD (Colo.) Sept. 8.—Sheriff Clark, with fifteen deputies, went to Tabasco this afternoon in response to a telephone message that striking miners numbering over 100 were marching to Tabasco and Berwin to force non-union miners out of the mines. On the arrival of the Sheriff the strikers informed him that they had assembled to hold a meeting. Sixty of the strikers carried guns and the Sheriff disarmed the others. Fifteen were considered dangerous to peace and were arrested and placed in the County Jail here.

At Starville last night six Italian miners assaulted coal-company guards who shot Christopher Shiner, one of the strikers, through the groin, fatally wounding him. Three of the strikers were arrested and placed in jail, but the others escaped.

ARRANGED THE DYNAMITE.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

TUPACKA (Kan.) Sept. 8.—Robert Romain, a deported Colorado miner, under arrest here for burglary, confessed today that he helped in the dynamite mine dynamiting incident in Colorado last fall, and in blowing up the depot platform at Independence, Colo., last June.

Romain gave the names of ten others who, he says, helped in the commission of the crime. The county officers refuse to make the names public. The Colorado authorities have been notified.

HURLED FROM A HOUSETOP.

Sam Locher, an electrician employed by a house-moving firm, was hurled from the top of a house at the corner of Third Street and Omar avenue at 1:30 o'clock this morning by contact with a live wire. Locher was on a house that was being moved and while attempting to remove some electric wires he experienced a shock that hurled him to the street and burned him severely about the hands, face and arms. He was taken to the Emergency and General Hospital.

PROGRESSO BURNING.
CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 8.—A great fire is raging in the city of Progresso, on the coast of Yucatan. One large block has been destroyed. Three relief trains with fire extinguishing apparatus have been sent from Merida. The loss thus far aggregates $200,000, and may reach much more if the fire is not checked.

SIMPLY A SCRATCH NOTHING MORE.

But Scratches Do Not Heal Up, and I Cannot Ship a Marred Piano—However Slight—Back to the Wholesale House—Must Sacrifice It Today.

I have the rarest bargain possible in the way of a beautiful fine-tuned, J. & C. Fischer piano, the best toned Fischer in the store—perfect in every way, except a slight bruise on the back. The upper top lid, caused by being bumped into another piano. This Fischer is in a handsome curly walnut case and regularly retails for $450. It can be sold today for $250; a hundred and ninety below its retail price, and $35 below its wholesale cost, and it's brand new. The bruise, or scratch, it might be called, doesn't hurt the piano a dollar's worth, but as I am closing out all these fine pianos at cost with a scratch, I am going to give the buyer of this one $35 for a dollar's scratch.

Who ever before heard of any one selling a new "Fischer" piano for $250—scratch or no scratch—and not only that, but it may go at $10 a month, have but one such, and there ought to be a hundred takers for it before now.

It will be many a long day before anyone can again put their paw on a "Fischer" and call it their own for $250—or $500 either.

QUAKERS CAPTURE NEGROES.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—While trying to escape an angry mob, James Parker, a negro, raced madly through the streets near Ontario Park, beating with a blackjack everyone who blocked his path. When the negro was finally cornered it was all the police could do to protect him. Parker quarreled with two white boys and struck them. They yelled for help and a thousand negroes, listening to the park music, pursued. After Parker had been captured the crowd captured several negroes, whom they bound with ropes. The police were kept busy until a late hour.

ITALIAN MOB AFTER MOTORMAN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Fifteen hundred residents of the North Side Italian settlement threatened to lynch the motorman and conductor of a trolley car which ran over and killed Manolo Manzo, 7 years old, and seriously injured Stephen Lascolla, 6 years old. The children were crossing the street when struck. News of the accident spread rapidly. The mob was checked by Patrolman Heardon, who leaped on the car and told Motorman Anderson to arm himself with the controller. Anderson was guarding himself against the crowd when a wagonload of policemen reached the scene.

SEVEN HUNDRED JAPS BLOWN UP.

PORT ARTHUR PAPER'S EXCLUSIVE STORY OF GORE.

News of the Siege via Chefoo, and Chinese Tells of Many Happenings Around the Fortress—Japanese to Make Another Assault Soon—Russian Dry Dock at Port Dalny.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
CHEFOO, Sept. 9, 1:30 a.m.—[By Asiatic Cable.] A Japanese column, numbering approximately 700 men, while marching along at night on a road in the valley between Long Hill and Division Hill, met a frightful disaster, through the explosion of an electric land mine, September 1.

The mine was carefully laid by the Russians three weeks ago. It covered nearly a mile of available marching space. The explosive was placed at the bottom. Rocks were placed next, and on top of these clay was packed so carefully that the ground gave the impression of not having been disturbed. The indications of Japanese activity in this vicinity put the Russians on guard.

Near midnight the outpost rushed in and reported that the Japanese were approaching. The Russians withheld their fire for some time. Suddenly they threw a searchlight up the valley. The Japanese opened with a rifle fire. The Russians continued to wait until apparently the whole Japanese column was in the danger zone. Then the mine was exploded.

The force of the explosion knocked a number of Russians down, and the sight of Japanese rifles, water bottles, and arms hurled through the lighted space, made by the searchlight, was an awful spectacle. Some rocks landed inside the Russian lines. There was one appalling moment during which the garrison itself was stunned, then a death-like silence. The searchlight coldly lit up the road and hillside strewn with dead.

The following day the Russians buried the dead, but owing to their dismembered and mutilated condition the Russians were unable to accurately estimate the number of killed. A Japanese escaped, however.

The foregoing information is contained in a small sheet issued September 3 by the Port Arthur Novakral, a breakage in the press having made it impossible to issue a full edition.

A Chinese arriving here at midnight confirms the above, to the extent of saying that he heard a report that many Japanese had been killed by a mine, but he did not learn the details.

On the nights of August 26 and 27 a similar disaster befell the Japanese near Redoubt No. 2. It is reported, but no details have been ascertained.

MORE FROM THE NOVAKRAL.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
CHEFOO, Sept. 9, 2:15 a.m.—The Port Arthur Novakral of August 30 gives some details of the recent fighting in front of the beleaguered fortress.

At 6 a.m. August 27, during a severe attack, Col. Kirilloff, commanding the Fourteenth Regiment, ordered a detachment to remove the dead and care for the wounded near an unnamed fort on the east flank. When within rifle distance of the Japanese the Russians hoisted a Red Cross flag. The Japanese gave inviting signs with their flags, whereupon the Russians, thinking that all was well, continued forward. However, when the detachment had reached the dead, the Japanese opened fire on them, fatally wounding a petty officer. The Russian detachment thereupon retired, Capt. Spanoff, who commanded the detachment, thinking that the Japanese had mistakenly fired, and seeing further beckoning signs by the Japanese, ordered the detachment to fire. A second time the Red Cross was again hoisted, but the Japanese again fired and wounded one private. The detachment again retired and the attempt to remove the dead was abandoned.

August 27 there was a little fighting on the west flank. The Japanese had two companies entrenched at Shilastung. The Russian artillery opened a severe fire on them and dismounted several of their guns. The Japanese held their position. At 9 a.m. August 28, the Japanese bombarded Fort No. 22 on the east flank, using field batteries posted at the left of Eagle Nest Hill. The Japanese batteries were well scattered and hidden and frequently fired on Eagle Nest Hill and Rocky Hill. At 4 p.m. the Japanese shelled Battery No. 3. It was observed by the Russians that the Japanese were building a battery to the left of Orphan Mountain. At 8 p.m. batteries were posted on this position by the Japanese and firing was begun. The firing was directed chiefly against Kurgan fort. All night the Japanese bombarded along the whole east front, directing their fire against the roads behind the batteries, with the evident intention of destroying the roadways by which the guns can be removed in case the Russians are driven from the forts.

During August 28 a peculiar contrast to the warlike proceedings on the east flank, whereupon the Japanese, thinking that all was well, continued forward. However, when the detachment had reached the dead, the Japanese opened fire on them, fatally wounding a petty officer. The Russian detachment thereupon retired, Capt. Spanoff, who commanded the detachment, thinking that the Japanese had mistakenly fired, and seeing further beckoning signs by the Japanese, ordered the detachment to fire. A second time the Red Cross was again hoisted, but the Japanese again fired and wounded one private. The detachment again retired and the attempt to remove the dead was abandoned.

At 5 o'clock in the morning of August 29 the Russians posted on a high mountain opened fire on the Japanese concealed in the corner of a hill. The Japanese immediately scattered.

The Chinese report the death at Chanchanko of a Japanese general, but the Novakral was unable to learn the general's name.

The Japanese control Pail-huang, but only small detachments are seen there at dawn each morning.

ANOTHER ASSAULT SOON.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)
CHEFOO, Sept. 8, 4 p.m.—Apparently well-informed Japanese who reached Chefoo from Port Dalny today report that the Japanese army before Port Arthur is preparing to make another assault upon the fortress.

Japanese agents here are sending to Port Dalny 20,000 gunnysacks, and are endeavoring to secure 60,000 more. It is reported that these sacks are to be filled with sand and used to fill up portions of the moat protecting the Russian right flank.

The Chinese report that the Russians are paying 50 cents for unexploded shells manufactured for use during the Chinese-Japanese war. The persistence of this report during the past two weeks entitles it to consideration, as indicating a shortage of large ammunition at Port Arthur.

consideration was entertained. But when it reached the Board of Public Works the danger of the nuisance receiving official sanction immediately became apparent. Chairman Nofziger warmly espoused the proposition and Mr. McAleer caught by the fallacious argument in its favor gave assent to the scheme which was repudiated by Mr. Davenport.

Yesterday when Nofziger and McAleer reported favorably to the Council on Colonel Busted's petition, Davenport called Skilling to the chair and took the floor to oppose it. He denounced the plan of farming out the sidewalks for advertising purposes and characterized the scheme as ridiculous.

In the Evening Express of Monday, March 7 under the heading: "No Cans on Streets," the following appears:

"Waste boxes will not be placed on the streets of Los Angeles. . . . This ordinance is a dead issue," said Davenport, who has persistently opposed the proposition from the beginning. "I desire in behalf of the Council to tender the thanks of this body to the Municipal Art Commission for its recommendation."

"It is evident that the ordinance has been thoroughly canned," added Mr. Davenport, and the smile passed around the Council Chamber.

TAIL WITHOUT KITE.

"He, as a member of the Royal Arch, loon men," says the twilight maligner.

Now, in the first place, Councilman Davenport is a teetotaler, the kind of a man who is least likely to be in league with the liquor interest.

Second, He has opposed every attempt at encroachment of the liquor interests in the Sixth Ward.

Third, He voted for the increase of the saloon licenses before he had been in the Council two months.

Fourth, A committee of church members of the Sixth Ward investigated this report, which was spread by his enemies at the last city election. Their verdict declared the charge without foundation in fact.

Fifth, Gen. C. F. A. Last, the head of the Royal Arch, has made the following statement: "J. P. Davenport is not a member of the Royal Arch and has not been during the time that the local branch has been organized, dating back more than three years. The books and stubs of the local branch of the Royal Arch are open to inspection to any elector of the Sixth Ward who desires to verify these facts."

Yet, the Express, without giving a single fact on which to base the assertion, without attempting to explain the foundation for such report, without giving any person as authority for such a statement, has repeatedly published the unsubstantiated charges that Davenport is a member of the Royal Arch.

"If the Express will submit a single fact in substantiation of that statement," last night, said J. D. Chew, a property owner of the Sixth Ward, who was interested in a former issue of the Express, "it will cost Mr. Davenport the votes of hundreds of temperance workers in the Sixth Ward. If the Express does not desire to be branded as printing campaign lies to get revenge for losing out in a business transaction, it will give us some facts to substantiate that statement."

"If the paper fails to do so there are a great many of us down there who will feel that it has been guilty of blackmail."

ANOTHER DEAD ONE.

"He voted against the ordinance to abolish prize fighting because his whiskey friends wanted him to do it," charges the Evening Express.

Records in the City Clerk's office show this statement to be equally false. No ordinance abolishing prize fighting has been presented to the Council since Davenport has been a member. The statement is out of whole cloth. Prize fighting is prohibited in explicit terms by the State law and only an ignorant would assume that the city would legislate against what has already been penalized by the State.

There was, about a year ago, an ordinance presented to the Council forbidding public boxing exhibitions, but legalizing private ones. Davenport refused to vote for it unless both public and private exhibitions were cut out. The news columns of the Express repeated this statement, and the ordinance was passed in that form, but against Davenport's vote, and was promptly knocked out in the courts as class legislation.

SLAUGHTER-HOUSE LIE.

"He tried to deceive his constituents by working the scheme surreptitiously to extend the slaughter-house limits in the Sixth Ward and insulted them by the extension," charges the Express.

The falsity of this charge was proved in the recall hearing before Judge O'Connell, when Davenport showed that he had nothing to do with the original ordinance extending the slaughter-house limits, but that he made a motion on the floor of the Council by virtue of which the Sixth-Ward slaughter-house district was wiped out.

Councilman McAleer on the floor of the Council declared that he alone was responsible for the original extension of the slaughter-house limits in the Sixth Ward and that Davenport had nothing to do with it. An Express reporter was present when McAleer made this statement, but it was never allowed to appear in the Express; that is, Davenport had refused to give the Express the city printing.

NAILED AGAIN.

"He disregarded the protests of citizens and lured himself with contractors to compel the acceptance of the ordinance," charges the Express.

It explains further along that the case referred to is that on Lawrence Street, records in the City Clerk's office show that Lawrence Street was accepted by the Superintendent of Streets before any protest had been made in the Council. The world that property owners came to Davenport with their protest and he secured for them a hearing before the Council, which secured a re-examination of the work. This was done on Davenport's motion. The members of the Council went in a body and inspected the street and all voted that it was up to specification.

Some of the property owners thought that they were being jobbed and appealed the question to the courts. It was there that they learned that the work was up to specification.

And this is the "protest of citizens" which Davenport disregarded. His name as "Ex" as that of every other Councilman, was justified in the court proceeding.

FOUGHT FOR TRANSFERS.

"He always voted and worked in behalf of the railroad as against the people of his ward," says the twilight defamer.

The only time in which the railroad has taken issue with the people of the Sixth Ward was over transfers on Ninth street.

In that controversy the city records show that Davenport, despite the slanders of the Express, was a planning and a morning paper, made the motion in the Board of Public Works by which the City Attorney was asked to suggest the most feasible plan for getting the transfers back; that when the City Attorney had made his recommendation, tion, which was to the effect that he would prosecute damage suits against the railway for putting passengers off the cars after they had paid one fare, Davenport made the motion for doing the City Attorney with full authority to do that and anything else necessary to get the transfers.

The suit was brought and won. It has been appealed to the Supreme Court by the railway and the decision has not yet been received. Davenport led the light against the railway company and for doing so it is charged that he worked in behalf of the railroad.

IN HONOR OF COVADONGA.

NATIVES OF SPAIN CELEBRATE MOORS' EXPULSION.

Fraternal Feeling Cemented at Banquet Served in Castilian Style. Message by Cable from King Alfonso in Response to Greeting Flashed Under the Sea.

Members of the "Sociedad Española de Covadonga" celebrated in this city yesterday the driving out of the Moors at Covadonga by Pelayo and his band of Christians nearly fourteen hundred years ago. To that expulsion is credited the preservation of the Spanish nation to Christianity.

The red and yellow of the Spanish colors with the pomegranate, Spain's national flower, red carnations and greenery were employed extensively in the altar decorations at the solemn high mass celebrated yesterday morning at the Church of Our Lady of the Angels.

Rev. Juan Caballero, president of the Covadonga Society, celebrated the mass, with Rev. Joseph Barron, pastor of St. Mary's Church, as deacon and Rev. Father McDonald, C.M., of St. Vincent's College, as subdeacon. The priests appeared in the sanctuary wearing the old vestments of the time of the Spanish padres, rich in their adornment with gold lace. An elaborate musical programme of Gregorian music was rendered.

Last night the Sociedad Española de Covadonga gave an elaborate banquet in the Castilian style at Levy's. There were ten courses of delicious Spanish cookery, and these were interspersed with music and song in unconventional style.

The entire upper floor of the café was in commission for the Castilian banquet, and the tables were set in the form of an L. The walls were draped with flags of the United States and Spain, and bunting of red and yellow. While the long tables were brilliant with sprays of red carnations, bedded in asparagus plumose and with vases of the bright red and yellow cognac.

Around this table were gathered the representatives of old Castile, every member of the society being a native son of Spain. None others are eligible to membership.

Among these Castilian families represented were: Rev. J. Caballero, president of the society; A. D. Cajal, secretary; E. Fernandez, treasurer; Dr. A. B. Gomez, Quintin Villagas, Gregorio Berrechea, Andres Berrechea, Ramon Blanco, Dr. M. Fernandez, Juan Arenas, J. Trocoul, Manuel Ordoul, José Garcia, Francis Cortez, Isidor Cortez, Augustin Escheveria, Martin Lufur and J. Covas.

Among the guests of the society were Bishop County, Maj. Jones, who represented Mayor Snyder, members of the Chamber of Commerce, and members of the press. Covers were laid for sixty-eight. The menu was as follows:

Ostras Crudas, Estilo de Cadiz. Amontillado, Blanco de la Rioja. Aceitunas Sevillanas. Almonds Valencianas. Sopa Madrileña. Pasa de la Vacaína. Jerez Blanco. Papas Mallorquinas. Mollejas de Ternera a la Aragonesa. Pescado a la Vacaína. Patos a la Alfonso. Valdepeñas, Vinto Tinto. Truitadas d'ou Catalana. Vino de Malaga. Queso Zaragozano-Pastelillos Gallegos. Café.

The programme included the "Marcha de Cadiz," sung by Señorita Isadora and Juanita Pedraza, Anita and Antonieta Cajal; the "Himno Americano," which proved to be the "Star Spangled Banner," sung by Señorita Maria Yarrondo, accompanied by Señorita Pedraza; an interesting address on the history of Covadonga by Dr. A. R. Gomez; a tribute to the national flower of España, "La Flor de la Granada," written by Father Caballero and recited by A. D. Cajal; a recitation by Señorita Herminda Villagas; song, "In felice" (Aria de Hernani), by Dr. M. Fernandez; an address by Father Caballero; short speeches by Bishop County, Charles F. Loughlin, A. D. Cajal, Maj. Jones and M. Garcia, representing the Spanish consul; Bishop County appeared to strike a happy vein in his address, when he said: "There is no man nor woman worth knowing who doesn't love the land he came from, and who also doesn't love his American citizenship. My heart was not in its very beginning my warmest sympathies, and I believe it can and will be the means of accomplishing much good here in a brotherly spirit of fraternity, while preserving the traditions which are the sweetest in history."

"The world is very narrow, after all, and we are all akin; and tonight you are honoring more than a Spanish victory, a victory of the cross over the Crescent. Though blood may separate us into racial differences, we are one in the celebration of these events which have been world powers, and we are one in religion."

Great enthusiasm was aroused by the reading of a cablegram from King Alfonso. A committee composed of Father Caballero, Dr. A. R. Gomez and Juan Mancho, day before yesterday had sent to the King of Spain a message of congratulation on the anniversary of the national festival of Castile. The response was read last night, and is as follows:

"Thanks in behalf of Spain and your true and humble servant."

It is the intention of the Sociedad Española de Covadonga to follow this initial entertainment and observation of the day with social gatherings and banquets every three months.

Free Bouquets.

Over half million women annually get free bouquets at Niles, Mich., where a railroad company has just rebuilt its clubhouse on a scale that doubles its former capacity. The clubhouse is composed of a main building, from which lead two wharves, one seventy and the other forty feet long. The glass roofs are twenty feet above the framework of the entire building is of steel, the glass roof sheds the water into steel gutters, and the entire plant is heated by a capacious battery of boilers in the basement of the main building. able them to throw flowers in the lap of each woman passenger, he she of high intellect degree. An employ in uniform bearing a basket filled with the favors passes through the train distributing the fragrant bunches. The entire floral department of the road, as well as the house at Niles, is under the charge of John Gliner, an experienced florist, who has presided over the department since its inception—(Chicago Journal).

THE VICTOR.

One time the sea was wide—so wide
That men declared
No one could find its further side,
Yet one man dared:
One man dreamed of things to do,
One man who fought his doubting crew
And ventured till his dreams came true.
The others' fared
His way, till all the sea might hide
Their work had bared.

One time the plains were dull and still
And all untrod,
And men gazed at each distant hill
With doubting nod—
But one man braved the lonely miles,
Blazed pathways through the forest aisles;
Men went his way in eager files;
With chain and rod
They marked the place for mart and mill
Upon the sod.

The man who is content to rest—
Secure from harm,
In fear of toil's tremendous test
Or war's alarm,
Who hugs, untrampled, his safe hearth,
Gives little proof of strength or worth;
His pride is in his birth
And sugar charms
Have barred the tale of noble quest
From off his arms.
—(Chicago Tribune).

The Initiation Goats.

The lank lad hauling a rope, to which was attached a pair of fleecy goats, stopped at a saloon near the Louisville Hotel last night and asked the bartender to give his goats a pail of water. While they were drinking, two women passed down the street and looked over the animals.

"I suppose," ventured one, "that those are the two goats that they do the initiating with. I should think that the men would be afraid of the beasts' horns."—(Louisville Herald).

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Jones's Funeral.

The funeral of Anson Jones, the celebrated horticulturist and architect, will be held in the Welsh church Sunday at 2:30 p.m. The Park Commission will send a wreath and will likely attend the services.

Certificates of Heaviness.

Ying Neon, a Celestial, was caught yesterday without his registration. It looks like the long truck back to China for Ying, for he was sent to the county jail and his hearing was set for September 25.

Bogus Assessors Again.

The bogus assessor is working again. On Vignes street at least three houses were visited by a man who asked to be said to bear a resemblance to the one who victimized a number of persons last spring.

Store Burglaries.

Burglars entered the store of the Sturges-Bowling Music Company, No. 322 West Seventh street, Wednesday night, by breaking through a rear window. A gold watch and several other articles were taken, but the thieves failed to secure money.

Bankrupt.

C. A. Grenier, a harness-maker of Pasadena, filed a bankruptcy petition in the United States court yesterday. Grenier owes $6,500, but he is not as bad off as some other bankrupts, for his statement shows that he has $2,750. Of this amount $479.50 is claimed to be exempted.

Workman Social Session.

Refreshments, cards and dancing were the features of a pleasant social session of Los Angeles lodge, No. 1, Modern Workman Fraternity, held last evening at Brownberger school on West Seventh street. An entertaining program was offered, those who participated being D. E. Reynolds, Addie A. Ramsay, Dr. Curtis M. Beebe, M. M. Meyers, Winifred R. Rogers and the Modern Workman orchestra.

Killed by Fall.

Ira Thornhill, 22 years of age, a line-man for the Los Angeles railway, was killed yesterday morning while helping a house-mover to get a building under the wires at Sixth and Main streets. The pole upon which he was at work broke off, and if he fell to the pavement had not been sufficient to kill Thornhill he would have been killed by the pole which fell upon him. The accident occurred at 3 o'clock in the morning and the injured man was taken to the Revere Hospital, where he died at 8 o'clock. The coroner's jury found a verdict of accidental death under the circumstances noted.

Turks Refuse to Fix the Aerial Roads.

Bishop Discourses at the German Conference.

Adventists Discuss Plan for Sanitarium.

At the young people's convention of the United Presbyterian Church last night the principal feature was the address of Rev. S. J. Shaw of San Diego, on his trip to Jerusalem. It was a most interesting talk and through it ran a vein of humor that cropped out every time the speaker touched a new point. It was a condensed review of the entire trip, and at the outset Mr. Shaw said the job before him reminded him of a certain anecdote about the breaking of a coil—it might throw him, but he'd try to hang on to the end.

On the island of Madeira he said he went to visit the United States Consul, and as the only conveyance he could secure was an ox cart, he was in doubt about his reception and was glad he found the consul-out.

"When we reached Gibraltar," he said, "we at once recognized the place by the immense photographs circulated in this country by a certain insurance company."

"Malta, like California, is a place where a day without sunshine is rare, and they say people have to leave the island to die."

At Ephesus I found an old friend in the pepper tree, and felt like shaking hands with him. But I draw the dime at a big man's horseback being led up the mountain by a woman on foot."

Speaking of a meeting on Mars Hill he said: "I rather a reflection on the profession, but I know for a fact that seventy men volunteered to preach that sermon."

"At Constantinople about 500 Turks stood on the dock and a look at their faces made me glad we were not to land that night. They have a variety of nationalities in Constantinople that not even Chicago can equal. As we walked through the streets dogs were so thick that we had to be afraid of hurting the feelings of a dog."

There was much sober earnest than dry humor in his reference to a certain piece of road over which he had to ride on his way from Damascus to Jerusalem. He said:

"It was the roughest, steepest, awful piece of road you ever saw; we all had to get off and walk and lead our horses; and—and it is a shame that the Turkish government goes right on collecting fees from tourists and does nothing to improve that road. I don't think I will be happier when I reach the New Jerusalem than I was to reach Jerusalem that day. I don't know a better country for a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and we ought to send a delegation over there to organize one."

The following officers were elected for the Young People's Christian Union of the Los Angeles Presbytery for the ensuing year: President, Henry Kerr of Santa Ana; vice-presidents, Miss Mary French of Los Angeles, Miss Lenore Butler of San Diego; secretary, Miss Bertha James of Pasadena; treasurer, Dr. D. C. Strong of Redlands; executive committee, James McFadden, Mrs. Frank Wright, Emma McCall, Walter Collins and Ausley Graham.

GERMAN METHODISTS.

BISHOP'S ANNUAL SESSION.

Bishop Luther B. Wilson, who presides over the California Conference of the German M. E. church, now in session in Zion Church, here, yesterday delivered a powerful sermon on the subject of "Personal Influence." He had a large audience and the sermon was the annual event at the session of the conference. The bishop is very popular with his people and they showed him with congratulations last night.

During the day session Rev. Otto Wilke, superintendent of the hospital at Fifth and Hope streets, made his first report for the seven months since the hospital was opened. It is in a most flourishing condition and has had all the business it could conveniently handle. It now has a force of sixteen trained nurses and 230 patients have been treated, 145 operations performed and charitable work done to the amount of $700.

The following officers were appointed yesterday: Conference Secretary, Rev. J. J. Schultz, statistical secretary, Rev. J. G. Vogel and Rev. William Schultz; treasurer, Rev. R. Steinbach. The committees met in the afternoon, there being no session of the conference and they will probably have matters to present at the session this morning.

ADVENTIST CAMP.

DISCUSS THE SANITARIUM.

At the Adventist camp-meeting yesterday plans were discussed for opening the new sanitarium at Glendale. It will have seven directors, chosen by the Southern California Adventist Conference, and there will be no capital stock, as profit is not the object of the corporation. There was animated talk on the articles of incorporation and the proposed bylaws and the Adventists announce their determination to make it one of the most noted institutions on the Pacific Coast.

The medical-missionary work was under special consideration yesterday and strong resolutions were adopted favoring making the work more evangelistic and urging the educational features on the attention of sanitariums, schools and churches. A great missionary campaign is to be inaugurated this fall and winter and simultaneous meetings will be held in all the churches in November.

Elder W. B. White preached last night on the subject of "The True Israel."

DAY OF FULFILLMENT IN GREAT CONTEST.

Competitors for "Times" Scholarships Receive Their Reward—Prizes Distributed and Victory Fittingly Celebrated by Happy Party.

REWARD for arduous labor well performed was accorded yesterday to the bright, appreciative young people of Southern California who carried through with such success The Times Scholarship Contest of 1904. All day they enjoyed with good-mannered hilarity a rare outing among the groves and the fields, in the sea and at the banquet board, and in the evening met on the dignified platform before their assembled friends to receive the substantial benefits of their faithful services.

A more spirited crowd than rolled down to the Pacific shore in special cars under The Times banner would be hard to muster, and yet it was a crowd in which an ill-word or a misguided act was not encountered the whole day long.

The most impressive feature of the trip was the visit to the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle, where the party was royally entertained by Gov. La Grange and his fellow-veterans, in the beautiful grounds of that splendid retreat.

AT "THE HIVOCAAC." This interesting sojourn among the faithful men for whom the government cares so judiciously followed a pleasant call at "The Hivocaac," the home of Gen. Otis, which was the first stop in the itinerary. After passing the Times office at 9 o'clock in the morning, in two special cars provided by the Los Angeles-Pacific Railroad. Like all well-appointed and "personally conducted" excursions nowadays, these were "through cars" that carried the youthful excursionists over many different systems of tracks, as if they had been their own private vehicles.

The middle picture is a group of the "Sold Six" of the contest, that is the six chief prize winners. Reading from left to right they are: Louis Bristol, Hazel Burke, Luis Briant, Nat B. Browne, Bel Skidmore and Harry Leftwich. The lower picture shows the scholarship contestants and veterans at the Soldiers' Home just after the flag-saluting ceremony. Gov. and right good service did these comfortable coaches and their good-natured crew perform. At the home of Gen. Otis each member of the party was greeted personally by the host, and after passing leisurely through the residence and the grounds, the visitors were refreshed from ample bowls of lemonade that had been set in cool nooks under the palms. Under the vine-shaded veranda they sat and the train sped back through the city and out through charming Hollywood to Sawtelle.

AT SOLDIERS' HOME. Here the crowd broke loose with merriment as one and all piled into the conveyances that had been provided by Gov. La Grange for the side trip to the government reservation. Two big ranch wagons topped with chairs set back to back, three busses, and other vehicles that made up a procession of a dozen vehicles, started off through the village, loaded in the main with laughing, horn-blowing boys and girls.

First a tour of the government fields and orchards and lanes shaded with stately pepper trees, was made, and then the old soldiers who held the reins guided their sleek teams among the barrack buildings to headquarters, where the passengers descended, and were greeted by Gov. La Grange.

Gov. Otis addressed the Governor and the assembled comrades briefly, presenting the happy party which he had brought, expressing appreciation on behalf of The Times and the young people of the hospitality evidenced, and paying a tribute to the veterans who stood before him. The latter responded with applause, and Gov. La Grange in turn addressed himself to his visitors. He said: "It is my pleasant duty to bid you welcome. The journal which you represent has a very large constituency here, and its character is such that we look upon its representatives as special friends of the veterans. 'No other nation has made such provision for its retired defenders as our

EVERYBODY IN THE SWIM. After three rousing cheers for the Soldiers' Home and its Governor, the cars were again boarded at Sawtelle and all speed made for Santa Monica. There the young folks, and the old folks, too, disported themselves in the surf, or in the plunge, until departure for Redondo at 2:30 o'clock. The ride along the ocean front from Ocean Park to Playa del Rey and on to Redondo over the Los Angeles-Pacific's new surf line was most exhilarating. There was no tiring those scholarship boys and girls, but a way to silence them was found during the afternoon. They tooted and "jollied" their way up to the very doors of the spacious dining-room of the Hotel Redondo, but there, at the threshold, their "wind" suddenly failed them. Truth, they were hungry, and they had just found it out. Anybody would have discovered hunger at a glance through that doorway. Two courses of a mighty good dinner had come and gone before the crowd even began to recover from its paralysis of speech, and even then recuperation reached only the stage of mild conversation.

STATE'S BIRTHDAY AND CELEBRATION.

FIFTY-FOUR years ago today Golden California became one of the States of the Union. Although she is getting to be a pretty old lady, still she celebrates her birthdays. Anyhow, her grandchildren purpose reminding her of the event today.

There will be picnics and barbecues and speeches and fat men's races and baseball games.

Most of the large stores will be closed for half a day.

The Courthouse and City Hall, with all their departments, will be closed for the day. The City Library will be open from 1 to 9 p.m.

All departments of the postoffice will be open until noon. Carriers will make the usual morning deliveries.

There will be no general exercises in the city; the beaches will be going full blast.

There will be a baseball game between Los Angeles and Portland. Matinees will be given at the theaters.

The Native Sons of the Golden West, who have perhaps the best right of all to celebrate the day, will hold a great picnic at Terminal Island. Every parlor in Southern California will be represented, and a great crowd of Native Sons and Daughters will be there. All their friends, who may have been born elsewhere, are invited. There will be sports on the beach, a barbecue and dancing in the evening at the pavilion. County Superintendent Mark Keppel will make an address. A special train will leave the Salt Lake station at 9:05 a.m. Specials will also run from Ontario and Redlands.

The Pioneers will also celebrate at Terminal.

The Foresters will hold their second annual picnic at Redondo. There will be swimming races, a tug of war and other athletic games. There will be an election for the most popular member, the successful candidate to receive a gold watch.

The Twin City Society will give a picnic at Playa del Rey.

The Woodmen of the World will hold a picnic at Rubio Canon—a joint picnic, in fact, of the Woodmen and Women of Woodcraft. It will be a basket luncheon, with impromptu sports. There will be music in the afternoon and dancing in the evening.

SHAW URGES BUY FRONT.

Says This City Will Grow Beyond All Dreams.

Declares Harbor Land Cheap Now at Any Price.

Advices Holding of the Old Postoffice Site.

The stoop-shouldered man who spends $1,000,000 of Uncle Sam's money every day in the year has come and gone, leaving Los Angeles the richer for his visit and taking with him, he said, "a heartful of delightful recollections."

"Will you come back?" asked someone as the Secretary of the Treasury swung himself onto the steps of a Pullman car a minute before the Owl pulled out for the north last evening.

Mr. Shaw turned in the sharp abrupt way of his. There was rebuke in his voice. "You ought to know that I will," he said, "without asking."

And he meant it. From every point of view Southern California, and Los Angeles as the metropolis of Southern California, have taken a strong hold on the custodian of the nation's finance. He said to a Times reporter at San Pedro yesterday morning: "No man dare predict for this southland of yours a time of what will come to pass. Its future is gigantic. Build for that future! Build big! Even then, before your plans have been carried out they will have become inadequate to the instant need."

Two favorite words of the President's vocabulary fitted the case of Secretary Shaw during his two days' stay in this city—"strenuous" and "de-lighted." The former applied specially to the Wednesday programme, the latter sums up the Secretary's sentiment at the way he was entertained on Thursday.

Yesterday was spent thus: 7 a.m. took Salt Lake train to San Pedro where government construction work on the inner harbor was viewed from the decks of the steamer Falcon; 8:45, returned to Los Angeles; 10 to 11 rested at Hotel Westminster; 11 to 1:30, entertained by A. J. Wallace; 4:30 taken, with Confidential Secretary Im-lay, in A. P. Fleming's automobile to Southern Pacific Arcade Depot; 1 o'clock, departed on the Owl for San Francisco.

OFF FOR SAN PEDRO.

The Secretary of the Treasury wears well. The privilege of personal acquaintance with him is one that carries no penalty. His poise as a Cabinet official is utterly free of pose, his balance as a man is a composite of dignity and democracy, simplicity and strength, with a generous sprinkling of inquisitiveness and a dash of banter for spice. No public man latens more appreciatively, none holds attention to himself more engagingly, than he. He is irrevocably committed to the habit of telling stories. Happily they have always a point. If you were in a crowd and heard someone say, "That reminds me," you would wheel about in the positive expectancy of finding yourself face to face with the Secretary of the United States Treasury.

It is a thousand pities that some of the things Mr. Shaw said on the San Pedro trip yesterday are banned from print—a thousand pities, indeed, that this is a campaign year, when Cabinet officials must "be careful what they say."

"Had your breakfast?" demanded Bradner W. Lee of T. E. Gibbon, when the Shaw party came together at the Salt Lake station in the dim light that follows dawn—in fact, at 7 o'clock a.m.

"Spoke I dwell in the jungle and live on wild flowers?" retorted Gibbon. Haven't been up this early in thirty-seven years. You had yours?"

"Oh, indeed yes. This is nothing for me."

A count of noses showed that the special drawing-room car in which Secretary Shaw was carried was occupied by a party of twenty-one, including among others A. D. Cameron of Riverside, William Burton of Prescott, H. B. Gurley, acting secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Capt. C. H. McKinstry, Corps of Engineers, U.S.A., in charge of the government work at San Pedro; T. E. Gibbon, T. C. Peck, assistant general passenger agent of the Salt Lake; R. H. Minor, Bradner W. Lee, Maj. E. F. C. Klokke, J. C. Cline of the Customs Service, A. P. Fleming, A. G. Park, William Cleave and Hancock Banning.

At San Pedro the party was taken aboard the steamer Falcon, through the courtesy of the Banning company, and the trip of inspection of the inner harbor and government breakwater was begun.

"BUY MORE," SAYS SHAW.

The Secretary of the Treasury made himself comfortable by perching on the port rail of the saloon deck, establishing his equilibrium by bracing his heels against the mesh of the rail and locking one arm around a convenient stanchion. He was immediately surrounded by a group, with T. E. Gibbon in the center. Mr. Gibbon started a torrent of inner-harbor information going Secretary Shaw's way. The latter, chin thrust forward and eyes intent—the blue-gray eyes that never seem to have blinked—prepared to drink it in. The scene was amusingly suggestive of the Kind School Teacher and the Earnest Boy, only the boy had whiskers and wore a man's size hat.

"Look here!" said the Secretary of the Treasury, as last, "you people have got to get more sea front. Man, it will be worth a million dollars pretty soon where it's worth ten thousand now. Why?"

"But, Mr. Secretary," interposed Mr. Gibbon, "the total wharfage of this harbor, when the breakwater is completed and the turning-basin pegged out, will be greater than San Francisco's."

"How much is that?" demanded the man of banks and vaults.

"Six and three-quarters miles," came the prompt response. "And San Pedro Harbor will have seven miles."

"Ah!" replied the Secretary of the Treasury. "Some day you'll wish it was seventy."

"Look here!" he continued. "Things in this country are getting big faster than mind can grasp. I was in San Francisco the other day. I looked

PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Councilman Davenport yesterday helped his constituents knock out a chip factory on Crocker street.

An ordinance was passed creating the position of school nurse.

The proposition to purchase a site for a public library was referred to the Finance Committee.

The barbers' request for an ordinance prohibiting Sunday opening was turned down.

R. C. Brannin, who attracted attention by his claim that he had devised a secret process for reducing area that brought about phenomenal results, died suddenly, and his estate is in charge of the Public Administrator.

There is a valuable ranch at Covina awaiting an owner, and the heirs of one George Erle—if there ever were any—are hard to find.

AT THE CITY HALL.

CHIP FACTORY KNOCKED OUT.

DAVENPORT SCORES VICTORY FOR SIXTH WARDERS.

Residents on Crocker Street Near Towne Avenue Win After Fighting for Weeks Against the Establishment of Saratoga Chip Plant in Their Neighborhood.

Davenport scored a victory for his constituents at the Council meeting yesterday.

For weeks the residents of the Sixth Ward have been fighting against the establishment of a Saratoga chip factory at No. 114 Crocker street.

They have appeared before the Council and Council committees from time to time and used every means at their command to secure the abatement of what they consider a nuisance and a detriment to the property in the locality.

The site is owned by O. B. Senior and Milton S. Cox, and it is said that they have already spent considerable money in putting up buildings and purchasing apparatus.

The chip makers have been making a determined fight for the privilege of establishing the factory, and succeeded in holding off final action until yesterday.

Last week the Legislative Committee, to which the matter had been referred, visited the site, and it was generally understood that the members of the committee were impressed with the point, and that they would report in favor of allowing the factory to be established on the Crocker-street site.

Friday about forty residents in the vicinity of Crocker street and Towne avenue appeared before the committee, and a large amount of testimony was taken. Yesterday the committee presented a report to the Council recommending that the limits of the district within which such businesses can be conducted be changed so as to exclude the chip factory.

Both sides were represented by attorneys, and the arguments consumed considerable time. E. E. Bower represented the protesters and R. J. Adcock appeared for the proprietors of the factory.

Bower set forth the disagreeable conditions which surround a place such as that against which the people of the district protested. He maintained that it is not a manufacturing district, but is built up with homes.

Adcock spoke vehemently in favor of the factory, and laid much stress upon what he termed the rights of the owners of the land upon which it was to be operated. He laid special emphasis upon the point that the Council should not confiscate the property of its clients.

Davenport took the floor and proceeded to nail these arguments to the cross by declaring that there were over $10,000 worth of homes there, before the factory was started. His contention was so forceful and commanded the attention of the Council, and the large number of persons interested. He pointed out that the factory is a nuisance because of the disagreeable odors that emanate from the place, and maintained that inasmuch as his people were there long before the factory was started, their rights and their privilege to the unhindered enjoyment of their homes is paramount to any rights that the factory owners might have there.

The Council sustained his views, and the recommendation that the land in the vicinity of the factory be eliminated from the manufacturing district was adopted.

SCHOOL NURSE.

ORDINANCE PASSED.

An ordinance was passed yesterday creating the position of trained nurse for the public schools.

The scheme was introduced some time ago by the Finance Committee, but for some reason was not presented to the Council until yesterday.

The ordinance provides that the person to be appointed receive a salary of $15 a month. The appointee is to give all of her time to the work of looking after the sanitary conditions of the schools and the health of pupils and teachers.

The action was taken on the recommendation of the College Settlement Association and the Board of Health, both of which have given considerable time to getting the project endorsed by the Council.

The plan has been tried in many excellent cities, and has given good satisfaction.

LIBRARY SITE.

FOR A PARK ALSC.

The recommendation of the Board of Park Commissioners that a site for a public library be purchased was referred to the Finance Committee.

"Library Park" is the name friends of the movement to acquire the site offered on Eleventh and Figueroa streets propose to give the plot provided it is purchased by the city.

As has been stated, if the land is purchased now it is not the intention of the library trustees to build for several years.

In the meantime it is planned to ask the Park Commissioners to care for the place, to set it out with trees and other foliage, and make of it a little breathing place in the close-in district.

The City Librarian is authority for the statement that even when the building is erected it will not occupy more than a quarter of the lot, and the major portion of the property will always be available for park purposes.

FOR A PARK BEAUTIFUL.

At the next meeting of the Park Commission George Rice will recommend that two members and the superintendent be appointed a committee to devise ways and means for beautifying the city.

avenues in the city and the plan is to have them cared for by the park department, which will set out trees and make other improvements which will make the city driveways more attractive. This is intended to apply especially to thoroughfares leading to the various parks.

Number Tangle.

The special committee appointed to adjust the house numbering in the Fifth and Sixth wards reported to the Council yesterday. It states that the committee has not been able to agree upon any satisfactory method. The lack of a numbering system is causing much trouble and inconvenience. Letter carriers have refused to deliver mail at certain addresses, and merchants have great difficulty in finding houses. The committee recommends that three disinterested parties outside the Fifth and Sixth wards be appointed by the Council to correct the confusion.

Ninth-street Opening.

The project for the opening of Ninth street from Lorena street to Downey road was discussed yesterday. The property owners along the proposed improvement are not satisfied with the ordinance, and have demanded that it be changed in several minor particulars. The opening of the street was the cause of a fight in the City Engineer's office the other day, two property owners in the assessment district being the combatants.

For School Site.

Councilman Davenport endeavored to have his colleagues consent to the purchase of nine lots on Portia, Trinity and Adair streets for $6000. These lots comprise about two acres. Davenport said the project had the endorsement of the three improvement associations in the Fifth and Sixth wards, and that the property was remarkably cheap for the price. He declared that in three years it would be worth $15,000.

Todd objected because the request did not have the endorsement of the Land Commission, and when the vote was taken he and Skilling voted against it, thus defeating the measure.

When brought up in the regular way it is expected to receive the approval of the Council.

Barbers Turned Down.

A petition from a large number of the barbers of the city asking that an ordinance be passed prohibiting the closing of all day on Sunday was turned down by the Council.

The request was filed months ago, and has been hanging fire. The Council members noted that such an ordinance would be feasible.

Summerland Park.

Councilman Summerland's letter to the Council suggesting that the Fourth Ward Park be named "Terrace Park" was ignored, and the letter was filed in his honor. Summerland is in San Diego, and had no voice in yesterday's proceedings.

The committee on the park, headed by the Park Commissioners, and the Council committee to which it was referred, and the City Fathers followed these recommendations.

By an order of Judge Trask yesterday the Public Administrator was appointed to take charge of the estate of R. C. Brannin, the eccentric one who claimed all the seas as his gold mine.

Brannin was known to local fame by reason of having discovered a secret process for extracting the precious metals from ore, and he had been working on this process for some time.

Adcock said the Public Administrator proposed to realize in these numerous recipes. He has a scheme for bunching them and selling one batch to a beauty doctor for if he can find one in Los Angeles the medical prescriptions to someone else, and the metallurgical recipes to the highest bidder for spot cash.

WANTED, AN OWNER.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FORSAKEN.

Wanted, an owner for a forty-acre orange grove at Covina, which water right that alone is valued at $6000.

Nestling amid the wealth of luxuriant foliage and fruit that graces up the foothills lies this forty-acre place, and for two years it has remained without an owner. The tenant's lease expired on June 1 last, and long before that date he wrote, trying to find into communication with a person thought to be the owners, but received no reply.

Still the countermans remains unanswered regarding the ownership of this valuable property at Covina, and the Public Administrator McGovern is the next one in line to try to solve the problem. He has been appointed administrator in the estate of George Erle, deceased, and without much data to go upon, he is going to try to prove to some person's satisfaction that the name of the owner is $10,000 to $12,000 more than his or her estimate.

About two years ago the orange grove belonged to George Erle, a manufacturer of Quincy, Ill. He had owned the property for some time, and came to Covina with his wife and two children to live on the place. The place was well kept up, and to release the grove, that done, he returned East to his business.

With Erle's decease, however, no such data to go upon, he is going to try to prove to some person's satisfaction that the name of the owner is $10,000 to $12,000 more than his or her estimate.

PITIFUL STORY OF WOMAN'S DEVOTION.

SPENCER SUTHERLAND. The crack-back croquet player, and confederate of Tod Sloan, was arrested on the bigamy charge for which he was arrested in Detroit and brought back to Los Angeles.

Pretty Amy Egan, who thought she was becoming his wife last winter, but only because the train could not get her away, she will be here today.

There is a pitiful story back of the girl's continued devotion to him even in the face of these charges.

She told Yonkin that under Sheriff Yonkin, who went back to Detroit after Sutherland, Yonkin has known her since she was a little girl.

He said that Sutherland had been so good to her since their marriage that she would wait all her life to become his legal wife.

She said she would wait for him until he was ready to take her to Detroit after Sutherland, Yonkin has known her since she was a little girl.
